The Violet Archers are seasoned-veterans who know how to make magic. Case in point, helmsman Tim Vesely spent two decades as a revered singer and multi-instrumentalist for Canadian rock icons, The Rheostatics. Furthermore, on Sunshine At Night he is joined by acclaimed singer and pianist, Ida Nilsen (Great Aunt Ida, Buttless Chaps), drummer Camille Giroux (Sarah Harmer), bassist Scott Remila (Raising The Fawn) and guitarist Yawd Sylvester (Wayne Omaha). Together the band has crafted a stunning sophomore album of vibrant and lush indie rock.

Recorded in Toronto at the Woodshed (Blue Rodeo) and the band's home studio, Sunshine At Night is a focused and assured release.

Tim Vesely has been acclaimed for writing folksy rock songs "with a poetic grace and folky strength that is all too often underappreciated, if not undermined, in today's pop world." - View Magazine

"The architect behind the Rheos' biggest singles ("Claire," "Bad Time to be Poor")...Vesely modestly writes amazing songs that often steal the spotlight from his domineering partners in the Rheostatics. It's a real treat to hear Vesely venture into solo territory with the Violet Archers." - Exclaim!
